If you want to play NCAA Division I or II sports, you need to be certified by the NCAA Eligibility Center.

And that means you need to be more than a good enough athlete. You need to be a good enough student, too.

NCAA Division I requires 16 core courses. But beginning August 1, 2016, 10 of those courses will need to be completed prior to your seventh semester. For most of you, that's the start of your senior year.

Also, beginning August 1, 2016, Division I student-athletes will be required to graduate with a minimum 2.3 GPA in those core courses.

If you don't meet the academic requirements when you graduate, it's still possible to receive athletics aid. And you may still be able to practice. But you'll be stuck riding the bench. And who wants that? For the full list of initial eligibility requirements, visit 2point3.org and make sure you'll have the grades to play.

ELIGIBILITY CHECKLIST

- At the beginning of your sophomore year, register at eligibilitycenter.org.
- At the end of your junior year, ask your high school counselor to send your transcript to the NCAA Eligibility Center.
- Take the ACT or SAT and use the code "9999" to have your official scores sent directly to the NCAA Eligibility Center.
- Check with your high school counselor to make sure you are on track to graduate on time with your class and have the required amount of core courses.
- Beginning April 1 of your senior year, request final amateurism certification.
- Ask your high school counselor to submit your final transcript with proof of graduation.

HOW TO CHECK THE RECEIPT OF A TRANSCRIPT / TEST SCORE

Almost 25 percent of high school calls in July 2013 were transcript receipt inquiries. Once you have sent six-semester and final transcripts for your students, you can easily check on the receipt of the transcripts online. First, it is important to account for the time needed for the mail to arrive in Indianapolis. High school administrators can also check the receipt of a student's test scores on the High School Portal. As a reminder, the NCAA Eligibility Center will not accept test scores listed on a transcript. Test scores must be sent directly from the testing agency.

To check on the receipt of a high school transcript and/or ACT or SAT scores for a student, go to the High School Portal at www.eligibilitycenter.org. Click on "Enter Here" for high school administrators and log in to the system using your school's six-digit CEEB code and five-digit numerical PIN.

Click on the "Student Reports" tab and then "Search Student Details" to query students. You can search for students by graduation year, name and date of birth. The report will let you know whether a transcript or test score is on file for the student(s) in question.
